

Computation, Information, and Intelligence (COMS/ENGRI/INFO/COGST 172), Fall 2005
9/5/05: Course Staff and Weekly Office Hours

---

We, the CS172 course staff:

Prof. Lillian Lee	4152 Upson, llee@cs.cornell.edu, 255-8119
Ray Doyle	rd94@cornell.edu
Marek Janicki	mrj27@cornell.edu
Anton Morozov	amoroz@cs.cornell.edu
Shannon McGrath	szm2@cornell.edu

welcome you to our office hours, the regular schedule for which is below. (These are drop-in times; if you can't make one, you may send any of us email to set up an appointment for an alternate time.)

Monday	12:45-1:45	Lillian Lee	4152 Upson
	3:30-4:30	Anton Morozov	328C Upson
	8pm-9pm	Ray Doyle	328C Upson
Tuesday	1-2	Anton Morozov	328C Upson
	2-3	Shannon McGrath	328C Upson
	3-4	Marek Janicki	328C Upson
Friday	11:15-12	Lillian Lee	4152 Upson Hall

Exceptions: Monday 9/5/05, Monday 9/12/05, Cornell breaks, around exam times, and as otherwise announced.

Our primary aim is work with you to help you understand the lecture material. Indeed, recall from the “tip sheet” distributed on 9/2/05 that talking to us about any points of confusion soon after the lecture in question corresponds, in a sense, to getting extra time on the homework. We would also be happy to try out sample problems with you, discuss topics related to or beyond what we cover in lecture, and clarify homework problem statements if necessary.

To prevent any misunderstandings, we note that because much of the learning in this course occurs through individual effort on the homework problems — this includes developing the ability to determine whether a proposed solution is correct — office hours will not serve as a place to work through solutions to assigned problems. We ask that you respect this policy by not asking us to “check over” your solutions or partial write-ups for a current assignment.