welcome you to our office hours, the regular schedule for which is below (note the Sunday start). These are drop-in times; if you can't make one, you may send any of us email to set up an appointment for an alternate time. The schedule will vary during exam times, breaks, and study week, but all changes will be announced. An online version is available at www.cs.cornell.edu/courses/cs172/2007sp/calendar.htm.

To prevent any misunderstandings, we note here that because much of the learning in this course occurs through individual effort on the homework problems — this includes developing the ability to determine whether a proposed solution is correct — office hours will not serve as a place to work through solutions to assigned problems. We ask that you respect this policy by not asking us to "check over" your solutions or partial write-ups for a current assignment.
