We sample $N$ random numbers from the Cauchy distribution. Based on the known (given) properties of the Cauchy distribution and the central limit theorem connect the mean and the variance of the sum of the random numbers to the normal distribution.