

Lars Eldén
Linköping University

Berkant Savas
Linköping University

Krylov Methods for Tensors I and II

Sparse tensors occur frequently in information sciences. We investigate different approaches for generalizing Krylov methods to tensors. We also discuss the applicability of Krylov-Schur methods. The purpose is to compute low-rank Tucker models of huge tensors. In addition, perturbation theory for the Tucker model is outlined.